Pier Explosion Kills 9, Injures Another 247

Fire Sets Off Blast That Is Felt 35 Miles From Brooklyn Dock

NEW YORK (AP)—A fire on a Brooklyn pier set off an explosion Monday that shook the city for miles around. Nine died in the disaster and 247 suffered injuries. Flames still flickered in the red-hot ruins of the pier today. Fire officials will launch a full-scale probe of the 10-million-dollar blaze.

A dock worker said the fire started about 3:15 p.m. in a pile of foam rubber stored in the longest marine terminal in the city. Minute by minute the flames ate toward a mountain of explosive cargo—paint, lacquer, rubber cement, chemicals and fuels.

Firemen, dock workers, schoolboys and other spectators rushed to the scene—unaware of the impending peril.

Fragments Shower Area
Suddenly a sheet of flame shot skyward. The blast ripped off the pier shed's metal and glass roof and showered the area with a deadly hail of fragments.

The shock radiated 35 miles from the explosion. Windows were shattered five miles away. Chunks of white-hot steel weighing as much as 50 pounds arched over the waterfront.

The blast killed three boys in their tracks. The dock workers and three other men were also killed. One was decapitated.

Screaming ambulances raced away with the scores of injured, many of them spectators. Hospitals were soon jammed.

The pier—long as six football fields—juts into New York Harbor. The towers of lower Manhattan's financial district stand a short way across the water.

To Begin Investigation
Fire Commissioner Edward F. Cavanagh Jr. said he would start a "thorough and scientific investigation immediately."

He said the FBI, police—and other agencies are "investigating the possibility of sabotage." The blast lifted Cavanagh off his feet and spun him around. He escaped uninjured.

The explosion also knocked seven men off a city fireboat. Rescuers fished them from the water. Flames scorched nearby piers. Five ships were towed to safety.

An eyewitness, William Langsner, 51, described the explosion this way: "All we could see was black smoke, when suddenly it turned into an inferno. A solid sheet of

Britain Asks U.S. To Waive Loan Interest

LONDON (AP)—Britain is asking the United States and Canada to waive interest and redemption payments due this month on post-war dollar loans.

Chancellor of the Exchequer Harold Macmillan told the House of Commons the U. S. government has undertaken to seek congressional approval for the request.

The waiver bid by Britain was one of a series of emergency measures taken to guard the value of the pound, now pegged at $2.80.

Macmillan said gold and dollar reserves of the sterling area had fallen by 279 million dollars during November, the month of the British-French attack on Egypt. Many economists consider a level of two million dollars the minimum for the safety of the pound. The reserves now stand at $1,965,000,000.

Macmillan said "we will maintain the rate for the pound sterling at its present parity."

Minister Escorts Negroes To School, Later Is Beaten

CLINTON, Tenn. (AP)—A young white Baptist minister was beaten today soon after he had helped escort Negro students back to classes at Clinton High School.

Police Chief Francis Moore said the Rev. Paul Turner, pastor of First Baptist Church, was assaulted and that a man had been taken into custody. No charges were placed immediately.

Moore said there was no question but that the assault on Turner, who had said he would escort the Negroes back to classes whenever they wished to return, re-

U. S. Warns Syria Against Aggression

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP)—Reliable Syrian sources say the United States has told Syria it will tolerate no more aggression in the Middle East.

American Ambassador James

Moose was reported to have given that word to Premier Sabri Assali in a 90-minute interview, with the declaration covering moves against Syria or any other nation in the Middle East area.

The U. S. Embassy declined to comment on the report of the meeting. Assali told reporters Moose "explained to me the new United States policy toward the Middle East."

He said the ambassador also outlined America's "eagerness that all Middle Eastern countries should maintain their freedom and independence."

"Must Remain Alert"
In a statement to the press, the Premier said: "We hope the international atmosphere is improved, but despite tranquilizing American announcements on the Middle East we must remain on the alert to face any possible future eventuality."

Soldiers carrying tommyguns remained on guard at public buildings in Damascus and hotels and other major buildings were still sandbagged. Volunteers of the "popular resistance organization" continued drilling on the city's outskirts.

Red Beef Up Airpower
Premier David Ben-Gurion of Israel declared the Soviet Union is pouring jet fighters and bombers into Syria and said the Israeli air force must be strengthened.

Speaking at a defense bond rally in Tel Aviv, Ben-Gurion said, "We cannot be satisfied with the former strength of the Israeli air force when we hear about the flow of Soviet planes to Syria."

He said Russia had deliberately exaggerated the quantities of arms being shipped "to add to Israel's and the Western world's headaches—and because when the Syrian replenishing is completed, the Russians will again start supplying Egypt."

Another report of troop movements in the turbulent Middle East.

Withdrawn One Battalion
The British already have withdrawn one battalion of 800 men from the port, and the French pulled out 500 of their troops Friday. Previously 700 French troops had been withdrawn.

After his visit here, Gen. Burns is expected to go on to Jerusalem to discuss with Israeli army representatives the withdrawal of Israeli forces from Egypt's Sinai Peninsula and the posting of U. N. troops in that area.

U. S. Lt. Gen. Raymond A. Wheeler, appointed by U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld to advise on clearance of the Suez Canal of obstructions, is expected in Egypt next week to make a study of the problem. He is now in the Netherlands conferring with Danish and Dutch salvage contractors.

Campaign Expense Statements Listed

County Commissioner W. A. South spent $474 in his successful campaign for a second term on the Republican ticket at the Nov. 6 general election, he said in a statement of expenditures on file today with the county election board.

In another expense report filed with the board, Atty. J. Warren Bettis of Salineville reported he spent $90 as "a supporter" of Atty. G. William Brokaw in his successful Republican campaign for prosecuting attorney. Atty. Bettis is expected to be appointed assistant prosecutor—the post now held by Atty. Brokaw—on the basis of a pledge the candidate made publicly during his campaign.

The Wellsville Women's Republican Club spent $38 in the campaign, according to a report filed by Mrs. Elizabeth Baughman, treasurer.

Franklin Township trustees spent nothing in support of a 2-mill road tax, according to a report from Coletta Kelly, clerk.

The reports are required of all candidates—successful or defeated—and committees that supported any candidate or issue in the general election. The deadline is 4 p.m. Thursday.

Crowd Sought To Decorate Soldier's Tomb

Thousands of Women Were Honoring Men Slain By Russians

BUDAPEST (AP)—Russian soldiers opened fire in heroes' square today when thousands of women pressed forward to lay flowers on the tomb of Hungary's Unknown Soldier.

A woman was hit by one of the several shots fired and was taken to a hospital. Her condition was described as not serious.

Eyewitnesses said the shooting broke out when the women "became unruly" while trying to force themselves past Russian soldiers to lay their flowers on the tomb—exactly one month after the Russian military crackdown on the Hungarian revolution.

A Russian officer brandished a pistol, eyewitnesses said, and the women began to scatter, running in all directions. Several shots were fired. The injured woman was hit in the leg.

Two women ignored Russian soldiers who tried to push them back and placed red, white and green bouquets on the large white stone honoring the Hungarian dead of World War I.

It was clear to all who watched that the women were honoring, not the dead of 1914-1918, but the thousands who fell before the Russians in the recent rebellion.

Announced By Leaflets
The demonstration was announced only by leaflets handed out on Budapest streets Wednesday.

Singly, in groups, and finally in hundreds, the women converged on the square with their bouquets. At least two dozen Russian armored cars and scores of Russian soldiers with submachineguns were at the square. Their guns pointed at the women.

The women passed the Soviet Embassy on former Stalin Street, heavily guarded by tanks and troops. About 300 feet from the square they ran into the first Russian roadblock manned by armored cars and troops.

Russian soldiers, in some cases, shoved the women back. But the women shouted defiantly "We are not leaving."

Pushed Past Roadblock
The women, pushing past the roadblock, gathered at the corners of the square. They pressed up to within a few feet of the muzzles of Russian guns and began to sing Hungary's national anthem.

Their high voices carried over the square and the old song was picked up by women on the opposite side of the square.

Ezio Pinza Suffers Second Heart Attack

GREENWICH, Conn. (AP)—Singing star Ezio Pinza was felled Monday by his second heart attack in three months.

The name of the 64-year-old basso was placed on the danger list at Greenwich Hospital shortly after he was admitted, but a hospital spokesman said this procedure was routine in such cases. His wife spent the night at the hospital.

Pinza, a Metropolitan Opera star before going on Broadway in "South Pacific" and "Fanny," said only last month he was ending a long singing career and planned to take up acting.

Last August he suffered a heart attack at his summer home in Cervia, Italy, near his boyhood home in Ravenna.

Eden's Prestige At Lowest Ebb

Economic Emergency Looms For Britain

LONDON (AP)—The British people awakened today to a severe shakedown, with Prime Minister Eden's prestige at perhaps the lowest ebb since he took office 20 months ago.

There was widespread feeling that the decision to pull out of Egypt without delay was a national humiliation. Even some of Eden's last-ditch supporters were asking: How long can he hang on as prime minister?

Confidence Vote Coming
Conservative leaders in the House of Commons, forewarned of revolt in the party ranks, sought to drum up all possible support for a motion of confidence in the government which will come to a vote Thursday night.

The opposition Labor party planned an all-out challenge, probably with a motion seeking to censure the whole policy of intervention in the canal zone.

Even worse than the political crisis, to most Britons, was a looming economic emergency which threatened the stability of the pound and the national standard of living.

Suez Attack Costly
Government experts figured the Suez attack by next April would have cost Britain between 350 and 420 million dollars, including extra military spending, loss of Middle East oil and extra cost of shipping around South Africa. Still to be reckoned were enormous future losses: dollars to buy Western Hemisphere oil, Britain's share of clearing the canal, a general slump anticipated as a result of the oil shortage, and damage to British prestige and business in the Middle East and Asia.

The strong anti-American feeling which welled up in the closing stages of the British-French military adventure in Egypt was all but forgotten in a new general demand for repair of the Atlantic Alliance.

$827 Sought For Hungarian Relief

Albert Hanna, vice-chairman of the board of directors of the Salem Red Cross chapter, reported today that Salem's goal in the Hungarian Relief Drive has been set at $827.

School Plans To Be Altered Slightly; Open Bids Dec. 19

Plans for the new Salem senior high school may be changed slightly to meet objections by the Ohio Inspection Bureau, it was indicated at the Board of Education's December meeting last night.

Darrell M. Fadely, school business manager, told board members that the building prints were studied by the Inspection Bureau regarding a fire protection rating.

The Bureau found two points in the drawings which would increase the insurance costs for the building by $1,700 a year, Fadely said.

Bids will be opened Dec. 19 for the new school which is to be erected between E. 6th and E. 9th St. near Union Ave. A large number of contractors has indicated they will bid on the $2-million building.

The points which the bureau regards as not adequately fire-protected, he explained, were the exposed structural steel columns in the exterior wall of the classroom and office section of the school; and a type of ceiling which the bureau does not consider fireproof.

Ellsworth Board To Cite Consolidation Reasons

Detailed letters specifying why the Ellsworth Board of Education favors consolidation with the Berlin Center School will be prepared and sent to Ellsworth Township residents within a week, it was decided at a meeting of the Ellsworth School Board last night at the Ellsworth School. Richard Klyne presided.

The decision by the board came as a result of public feeling expressed during an open meeting last Wednesday when many of the Ellsworth residents said they wanted to know the board's specific reasons for merging with Berlin Center.

At that time the board announced that after an 11-month survey of the problems of Ellsworth school district, the only answer seemed to be consolidation. The board favors consolidation with Berlin by April 1 because of bonded indebtedness, transportation, present and future school curriculum with an eye to potentiality of future expansion and future enrollment.

Problem of Tuition
The problem facing the township is a result of the state law which requires township residents to pay total tuition costs for high school students by 1959. The state has been paying all but 1 1/2 mills of the district for the 71 Ellsworth district students now attending high schools outlying the Ellsworth district.

Officials predict that when the residents must undertake the total tuition costs, the tax levy of necessity will rise to about ten mills.

Santa and the SECRET ROOM

by LUCRECE HUDGINS BEALE

CHAPTER ONE THE SOLDIERS CALL

Listen now, and I'll tell you the strangest story ever told. A story of giants and elves and a pot of gold; of a lost princess and a secret room and Santa Claus in trouble.

There are folks who'll say none of this is true. But they're wrong. It's all true. I know. Because I was there and I saw it all.

My name is Alexander. I have seven brothers and seven sisters. I'm the youngest. I have no ma and no pa but my sisters and brothers take care of me.

We live in a little old house at the end of a crooked road. My sisters sleep in the house while we boys bed down in the barn. My story begins on a snowy, windy night just before Christmas. We were all gathered around the fire in the kitchen the way we always do at close of day.

Amanda, my oldest sister, was reading us a story about Santa Claus and how he had saved the life of a boy who had never believed in Santa.

The rest of us were stringing cranberries and making colored paper ropes to hang on our Christmas tree. It was nice and warm and loving in that kitchen by the fire. I was happy just lying there on my back listening to the story and thinking about the marshmallows we would be toasting by and by.

SUDDENLY THERE WAS a bang, bang, bang at the door and a voice shouting, "Open up in the name of the King!"

My sister dropped her book. No one else moved because, honest, I don't know how long it had been since anyone had come knocking at our door!

Bang, bang, bang came the knocking again.

Amanda said quietly, "Best to see what it is, Thomas."

So Thomas, my oldest brother, pulled back the bolt and opened the door. Three great, big soldiers marched right in. My eyes nearly popped from my head. I'd never been that close to soldiers before.

They lined us up three deep by the kitchen wall and asked us our names and ages and where we'd spent the day. Then the biggest soldier took a paper from his pocket and began to read:

"Princess Anne has been kidnapped from the royal palace. The king commands all his people to search for the kidnapper and recover his daughter without delay." After that the soldiers stomped out of the house. We all began to talk at once.

"WHAT A SHAME!" What a horror!" exclaimed my sisters. "The poor little thing!"

"Whoever took her would be far away by now," said my brothers. "They'd never dare to stay in the kingdom."

"What about Christmas?" I cried. "Will we have Christmas just the same?"

"Oh, Alexander," said Amanda. "Of course we will!"

They kept on talking and it was much, much later than usual when Thomas finally said, "Time for bed, Alexander. Get to the barn."

I always have to go when he says it's time, so I took the lantern and ran quickly to the barn.

But when I got to the barn I'd hardly put my foot in the doorway when I stopped in my tracks. Plain as day I heard breathing inside!

It wasn't the cow and it wasn't the hens or the hog. It was a person breathing. I know cause there's a difference between man and beast that you can feel inside of you, even when you can't see at all.

Quick as a lick I knew what it was.

"It's the kidnapper!" I thought. "He's hiding inside!"

Tomorrow: A Strange Story I heard breathing inside!

Stassen To Remain On Ike's Cabinet

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Harold E. Stassen says he will still be on the Eisenhower team after January.

The White House special assistant for disarmament wrote Dayton Journal Herald Reporter Mary Ellen Wolfe:

"The President has now asked me to continue my present position in the new administration and I have agreed to do so."

Stassen had sidestepped Miss Wolfe's questions about his plans when he was here last month for a speaking engagement.

His letter ended speculation that he might be dropped from the President's cabinet because of his opposition last summer to Richard M. Nixon's bid for a second term as vice president.

White House Press Secretary James Hagerty has said he knew of no changes planned in the Eisenhower cabinet.

Find Many Negroes Work for Government

WASHINGTON (AP)—A presidential committee reported today that Negroes comprise 23.4 per cent of the federal employees in five major cities, including this one.

Chairman Maxwell Abbell of President Eisenhower's Committee on Government Employment Policy, which compiled the figures, said the survey turned up two findings which he termed of particular significance.

"The first is that Negroes are employed by the federal government well above their ratio to the total population," Abbell said.

"The second is that Negroes are by no means confined either to the menial jobs of the government or to the lower grades in the (civil service) Classification.

The ratio of Negroes to the total U.S. population is about 11 per cent.

Besides the capital, cities covered by the survey were Chicago, St. Louis, Los Angeles and Mobile, Ala.

City Manager Authorized To Request National Guard

Portsmouth Council Declares Emergency Exists Due To Strike-Bound Phone Service

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP)—Portsmouth City Council Monday night adopted a resolution declaring an extraordinary emergency exists as a result of the lack of telephone service here since Oct. 15.

The resolution demanded immediate restoration of service by the struck Ohio Consolidated Telephone Co. And it authorized City Manager Robert E. Layton to request that the Ohio National Guard be sent here if he finds local police unable to maintain law enforcement.

Mayor Harold Frecka and Layton agreed, however, that the guard would not be requested unless a majority of the council agrees that it is needed.

Layton and Acting Police Chief Albert Bailey asked council to declare the emergency. The declaration gave Layton authorization to work policemen more than 40 hours a week in a new training program under direction of the state highway patrol.

Councilman Harry Martin Jr. cast the only vote against the resolution. Five other councilmen favored it.

Earlier Monday, Clare E. Williams, Ohio Consolidated president, told the Portsmouth Citizens' Committee that he would give "immediate consideration" to any new plans for better police protection that might lead to restoration of telephone service.

He repeated his demands, however, that the company must have

The Portsmouth local declined to consider the offer Monday night and the St. Marys local rejected it Sunday night.

The Wilmington local will hear the offer tonight at Greenfield. Other locals to consider the offer include those at Circleville Wednesday night, Cambridge Thursday afternoon and Cadiz Thursday night.

In Columbus Monday, the company asked the utilities commission to dismiss three separate complaints against telephone service in Scioto, Belmont and Jefferson counties.

One complaint, charging the utility with failure to meet minimum standards of service, was filed by U. S. Rep. Wayne L. Hayes, 18th District Democrat, of Flushing, Belmont County.

Similar complaints were made by Howard J. Norris and 100 other subscribers in Smithfield and other Jefferson County communities, and by the New Boston City Council in Scioto County.

U. S. Suspends Cultural Exchange With Russia

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States has suspended its cultural exchange program with Russia "in view of recent developments."

The State Department in reporting this today said the decision was made after Russian forces attacked Hungary.

East-West cultural exchanges, with Soviet European satellites, however, are continuing, a spokesman said.

The Stretch

The reason editorials are written about the seasons and the beginnings of new months should be plain by this time. Editorialists do not have many opportunities to put their words on a sure thing.

December, for example . . .

It will be full of activity in connection with the happy event of Christmas. The helpzapping elements at the east end of the Mediterranean will calm down somewhat just before Dec. 25.

There will be snow, in conformance with the crowned wish for a white Christmas. Clerks will have tired feet. Executives will wish the idea of having office parties had been nipped in the bud a long time ago. Christmas bonuses will come as a great surprise to millions of breadwinners whose families already will have spent the money. Christmas carols will be worn so threadbare that by Christmas Eve they scarcely will bring one more nostalgic tear from sentimentalists.

December is the home stretch — the climax of another calendar year. And high time too. One more month would be too much. There are, in fact, some who believe 12 months are one too many.

Bridges To Cross

Sen. Eastland in Hawaii as head of an internal security subcommittee investigation of Communism is giving Harry Bridges the kind of chance the notorious boss of the red-tinged longshoremen loves. While the white-supremacy advocate from Mississippi is looking into one of the most dangerous threats to U.S. security, Bridges is exploiting one of the most absurd situations in the U.S. Senate.

He is challenging that body's right to carry on any investigation in Hawaii through a committee headed by a man whose state is operating in violation of the 14th and 15th amendments. Sen. Eastland is accused of being an imposter as a member of the U.S. Senate. The entire investigation is being ridiculed and challenged by one of the past masters of contempt for the United States and everything it stands for.

The United States does not stand for Mississippi for Sen. Eastland. To let an Eastland preside over a hearing on Communism in Hawaii, where less than one fourth of the population is white, emphasizes the tragic disservice to America of bestowing congressional chairmanships according to seniority.

Sen. Eastland as chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee is as out of place as Harry Bridges would be as director of the FBI.

Delilah X

Testimony about the use of young women in a new kind of confidence game is being heard by members of the special Senate committee on juvenile delinquency — Sen. Kefauver's newest investigation.

To put it mildly, the testimony is being heard with unusual interest, because crime always seems more lurid if it has a sex angle. But alas, "there is nothing new under the sun."

The young women are merely instructed in the art of winning the confidence of victims ripe for fleecing. They have the obvious advantage of their sex and their youth, because they are less likely to be suspected than better known types of confidence game operator.

But aside from that, nothing is being done with young women in the confidence game that hasn't been done from the beginning of time.

Once there was a con girl named Delilah. Some of the boys wanted to make a sucker of a mark named Samson, who was ready for a fleecing.

The boys gave Delilah a short course in con-game operation, took Sam for everything he was worth and Delilah became the subject of one of the early legislative inquiries.

The Senate investigators could have found the whole story in Judges and spared taxpayers the expense.

Indefinitely Postponed

An eye-witness record of Hungarian revolution published by Life Magazine for the benefit of the International Rescue Committee explains why no United Nations observers will be permitted in Hungary for a long time to come.

If revolt continues, moreover, a chance to observe officially what has happened will be indefinitely postponed.

It never was as plain as it is now why the Communist rulers of the Soviet Union and its satellites must conceal their tactics. Otherwise, they would scare off every potential convert on earth and infuriate millions already under their control.

The eye-witness record being published by Life contains material previously published in the magazine's regular editions. What has happened in Hungary bears no resemblance to the "revolts" familiar to newspaper readers. Here was no quick uprising put down after a pogrom skirmish with the military. Here was a popular surge of hate and resentment against an intolerable oppressor — a French revolution of 1789, a Russian revolution of 1917.

Playing With Fire

By DAVID LAWRENCE

America's Patience With Kremlin Wearing Thin

Lawrence blaze that would spread far and wide.

The other day, this correspondent began talking to the "man on the street" about the happenings in the world.

One conversation out of several is, of course, not typical but, because it resembles so closely comments that became typical prior to the outbreak of two world wars, it is reproduced here for whatever point it may convey to readers here and abroad.

"What do you think of the world situation?" was my first question. "Pretty bad, I'd say. I feel sorry for those poor Hungarians," was the reply of a taxi driver.

"Well, what can we do about it?"

"I don't know, but I don't like it."

"Would you have Americans go to war about it?"

"I just don't like to see us get pushed around."

"Would you favor sending our American boys into war in this situation?"

"Well, I was in the second world war and in Korea and there comes a time when you got to do something."

"Have you any sons?"

"Yes, two in the Navy and one in the Army."

"Aren't you worried about the big bomb—the one they say will destroy us all on both sides if it's used in war?"

"No — then we'll all be dead anyway—so what!"

THE CONVERSATION may not by any means reflect present-day thinking in America. But it is significant of the way a determination to go to war slowly but surely develops over a period of time. It happened this way twice before.

There is something indefinable and even awesome about the way a nation makes up its mind to go to war. Having tried negotiation, having tried appeasement, having tried "co-existence," having tried everything, there comes a time when the demand is that military force be used. It has been generally assumed in the last few years that because of the terrible destruction the hydrogen bomb could wreak on both sides, there would be no global conflict again—neither side would allow it.

History proves, however, that terror does not prevent war. Indeed, before 1939, the bombing of civilian populations was known to be a certain consequence of the outbreak of any war.

The people of England submitted to bombing for many years rather than surrender. The human spirit can bravely risk death if there is a basic conviction of the justness of the cause.

Just when do a peaceful people make up their minds to go to war? At what exact moment does their patience become exhausted and do they fling themselves at most recklessly into a war that they become convinced must be fought and won if human liberty and freedom are to survive?

NOBODY CAN ANSWER that question as yet, with reference to present-day events. The men in the Kremlin are making the same mistake the Kaiser made in 1917 and Hitler made in 1939. They both believed American military power would never be brought to bear on the side of Britain and France.

Unfortunately, part of the error on the Soviet Union's rulers today is based on an undue emphasis they can note in American policy statements concerning "renunciation of the use of force."

This, however, must be read as a hope applied to all sides rather than a self-prohibition.

The most significant evidence of this is the overwhelming vote given by the Congress of the United States last year in authorizing the President under certain contingencies to use American military forces in Asia instantly — without further consultation. This was an unprecedented grant of authority and seemed imprudent in a nuclear age.

Something of the same type of authority may some day be given to the President by Congress to act in Europe and in the Middle-East if the Soviet Union keeps on arming small countries and inciting them to war, and persists in using its own army to destroy the freedom of small nations.

WHILE A MISSION of liberation as such will probably never be initiated by the United States, there may come a time when the United Nations will authorize an international police force to act and then America will be going along with the other powers.

A third world war isn't as impossible as it seems and Soviet policy-makers ought not to be under any illusions as to the manner in which a free people can be goaded into war.

Four times in the last 58 years war has been sanctioned by American public opinion — the Spanish - American War, World Wars I and II, and the Korean war. In every instance, America sought to uphold a moral principle directly related to human liberty and freedom.

The latest pronouncement of moral principle by the United States government — issued on Sunday at Augusta by the President and secretary of state—says:

"A PARTICULAR responsibility, we believe, lies upon those members of the United Nations which, by adhering to the Atlantic Charter, pledged themselves to the principles of self-government for those who had been forcibly deprived of it, and the assurance of a peace which would give freedom from fear."

The foregoing words significantly remind the Soviet Union that it signed the Atlantic Charter for whose ideals America fought in World War II.

These same words may become prophetic of a statement of objectives for which America may feel compelled to fight some day in World War III. It's worth thinking about in the Kremlin.

Gotham's Rural Borough

By JOHN MOSEDALE

Staten Island, a bucolic pocket in the world's largest city, may soon become just another cement-and-neon section of New York.

Indications are that a bridge connecting the island with Brooklyn, as it is already connected with New Jersey, may be constructed in the near future.

The island — where a man may milk a cow, pick wild flowers and get lost in the woods — is the part of New York City no one knows. The other four boroughs of America's biggest city are impressed on the national consciousness: The towers and Broadway lights of Manhattan, the quaint natives television writers locate in the Bronx and Queens, and — of course — Brooklyn.

But Staten Island, as much a part of New York City as the other four boroughs, is unfamiliar. Part of a city which out of towners think of as being inhabited exclusively by policemen, snarling truck drivers and headwaiters who understand money instead of English, nearly 500 acres of farmland are under cultivation in this corner of the metropolis.

As long as its more sophisticated sister island, Manhattan — 14 miles—Staten Island is three times as wide.

About 8 million people live in New York City. Staten Island's estimated population, however, is about 200,000. Its largest community is Port Richmond — the island itself officially called Richmond — with some 35,000 persons. The borough seat is St. George, population about 2,500.

The Staten Island ferry is the world's longest ferry ride for a nickel. The cooling journey through upper New York bay past the Statue of Liberty takes about 20 minutes each way, and is a tourist favorite, and popular too with New Yorkers on the steaming days and nights of summer.

This city's built — in suburb picked up its current name when New York was New Amsterdam. The Dutch called it "Staaten Eylandt" — State Island — after the states general, the governing body of Holland.

Still standing on the island is the charming little voozeer house, the oldest known elementary schoolhouse in the nation, built by the Dutch in 1696.

The island actually does house industries: It is the nation's leading supplier of dental products and it has the most powerful cranes in New York harbor, metal hands which can lift more than 250 tons. Sea - view, the largest tuberculosis hospital in the United States, is located on the island. The Barrett Park Zoo has the nation's largest reptile collection. And Snug Harbor, our largest home for retired sailors is in Richmond, where old tars can nod out their days near the sea they once sailed.

Now Staten Island braces itself for an influx, as building administrators note that it is the only place left in New York with vacant tracts of land large enough for construction of mass housing units. New hospitals and schools are being called for. The projected bridge will make the island close to the business districts than any suburb.

This growth may not be an unmitigated blessing to islanders, who are used to seeing birds in variety, and wild flowers, and whole stretches of woodland.

Todd Hill, with an elevation of more than 400 feet, is the highest point above sea level on the Atlantic seaboard. One resident of Staten Island observed recently, as he may not be able to do for long, should the present plans for a boom materialize:

"Between my porch and the coast of England, sir, there's nothing but fresh air."

On the Nation's Roads, Back the Attack Against—

$357,505 Red Bauble

By DAVID BARNETT

About one in every five glass ornaments that sparkle on American Christmas trees this year came from behind the iron curtain.

Imports of the glass baubles from the Communist lands so far in 1956 have reached a value of $35,505, according to Miss Grace A. Witherow, the U. S. Department of Commerce counter of such things.

That bought some 21,600,000 decorations.

Two years ago, Mrs. Theodore S. Chapman, then president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, created a stir by advocating a consumer boycott of the red-tinged imports. She called their purchase "a desecration of Christmas."

The boycott movement apparently caused hardly a flicker in the business of importing the decorations. The amount brought into the country has not dipped substantially since 1954.

A majority of the Christmas trees in American homes this December will have some foreign touch. Ken Smith, of the U.S. Tariff Commission, estimates that this country produces only about a third of the ornaments it uses.

The bulk of the ornaments are shipped here from foreign lands during July, August and September. Through this September, the imports amounted to $1,238,000. For all 12 months last year, the value of the decorations was about $1,500,000. In 1953, the total was $1,355,000.

The big producer among the Communist satellites is Poland, which shipped $342,000 worth to the U. S. this year. East Germany sent ornaments worth $13,000, and Czechoslovakia $505.

Two-thirds of the imported Yuletide ornaments come from West Germany and Japan.

The West Germans have sold U.S. customers so far this year 91,971 gross of the baubles for $467,000. The Japanese shipped this country 651,369 gross for $389,000. North American Newspaper Alliance

Balance Of Power

By BRUCE BLOSSAT

Circumstances may yet combine to swing control of the U.S. Senate in the next two years from Democratic to Republican. But the GOP's longer range prospects in 1958 are less bright.

Th first big uncertainty in the new Senate affects the seat now held by Democratic Sen. Price Daniel of Texas. Now the governor-elect of his state, he must resign his Senate berth by next Jan. 15.

His successor will be chosen in an election yet to be scheduled. And since at least three Democrats may bid for the post against a single Republican, the experts in Texas consider a GOP victory quite possible.

In that event the balance in the Senate would be 48-48 instead of the currently indicated 49-47 Democratic margin. With a tie, GOP Vice President Nixon would cast the deciding vote and the Republicans could organize the upper chamber.

In that next general election, however, the Republicans may be hard-pressed to gain or hold Senate control. Of the usual 32 seats up for grabs, 21 are now held by Republicans and only 11 by Democrats.

The Democratic seats at stake include five representing the normally "safe" southern states of Mississippi, Florida, Tennessee, Virginia and Texas (if that is held in 1957).

This would leave only Missouri, Rhode Island, Montana, Massachusetts, Washington and New Mexico as battlegrounds where the GOP could hope to pick up strength. All six seats are now held by popular incumbents who will be hard to unseat. A possible exception is Sen. Dennis Chavez of New Mexico, who has been ill this year.

With 21 seats on the firing line, the Republicans are far more vulnerable. Their holdings include Michigan, Minnesota, Connecticut, Pennsylvania, New York, Ohio, Nevada, California, Arizona.

In West Virginia, usually Democratic, Chapman Revercomb gained a Republican victory this fall but must stand again two years from now.

The official figures are still pouring from the 1956 election. But with this kind of struggle shaping up for 1958, party bigwigs worth their salt will soon be concentrating on new strategy rather than old figures. In the politician's world, there is no time to lose.

More For The Dollar

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — You can get a higher return on the dollar you have today than a year ago. But these higher interest rates are still too low in most instances to protect the saver's dollar from the renewed inroads of creeping inflation.

Price rises mean that the dollar saved doesn't buy as much later as it would when invested. Even add in the interest earned and most savers still fall behind in the race to hold even, let alone actual loss.

The point of no return for the saver over the last 10 years is figured today by the First National City Bank of New York in its December letter.

This point is the annual rate of interest which a man saving $100 in 1946 would have had to get, and reinvest at compound interest, to have the same amount of purchasing power now as he had when he invested.

The rate is 3.4 per cent — provided he is free of income tax payments. If he is in the 20 per cent income tax bracket, the point of no return would be 4.3 per cent and in a 40 per cent bracket 5.7 per cent. To those lucky, or unlucky, enough to be in the 80 per cent bracket, it would take 17 per cent each of the 10 years, and compounded, simply to hold even with the depreciation of the dollar over that period.

But if a man bought a marketable government bond in 1946 the average return was 2.19 per cent and only of late has the yield risen to 3.27 per cent. If the man wanted to keep abreast of inflation he would have had to invest in something else.

Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

Golf Under Real Pressure

Any man who has played golf must wonder how President Eisenhower, with such terrific problems on his mind, manages to play a single hole in under a dozen strokes or get off any green with fewer than seven putts.

He must realize that between each backswing and follow-through a new global crisis may develop. Between the time he lines up a putt and touches the ball there is always the thought that another armed conflict will break out somewhere.

No other golfer on earth tramps around a golf links under more "mental hazards."

A MAINWORRY for the average golfer is a trap but all he sees is sand. When Ike looks at a trap it is probable he sees it full of iron curtain diplomats and grinning neutrals.

To most golfers a bunker is just an unoccupied mound of earth, but our hunch is that Ike sees Shepilov and Krishna Menon sitting on it and laughing.

To you and to me a golf course water-hole may be just a water-hole but our belief is that Ike may approach it with one hole on his mind — the Suez Canal!

OUT OF THE WOODS on his right the President, more than likely, hears a General Assembly harangue at its worst. As he enters the rough on his left to play his ball he probably farcies the tall grass full of troublesome diplomats, interpreters and resolution-framers.

We imagine that a golfer under any such responsibilities misses three shots out of the rough for these reasons: On his first shot, instead of keeping his eye on the ball, he really keeps it on the Middle East crisis; on his second shot he is thinking of the Syrian situation.

On his next shot instead of concentrating on the ball under a wild cabbage he can't help concentrating on Egyptian prospects under a wild Nasser.

WE DON'T THINK GOLF does Ike much good. We have been a golfer, or nearly so, for years and found we could be thrown off our game by casual water, the caw-caw of a crow in a tree, a worm hole on a green or a sneeze on a driving tee. We are floored by the thought of what our score could be if we went onto the links filled with apprehensions about the Gaza Strip, Port Said, Cairo, Moscow, Israel, Tito, Janos Kadar or Khrushchev.

THE AMERICAN ROCKET SOCIETY, composed of "spacemen" scientists, just held an annual meeting in New York and we can't help wondering how a rocket expert feels making a six-block trip in a taxi in Gotham crosstown traffic.

The famous Lambs Club admits women to its dining hall for the first time in history. In these days not only do actors eat regularly, but concede their wives can afford it rather often, too.

Jackie Gleason is reported anxious to ease up and do only a few TV "spectaculars" next season. He has tried all sorts of reducing ideas and will now try a reduction of schedule.

A New York jurist who ignored 17 traffic summonses and parking tickets has resigned. This is the first time a parking meter has put a limit on a man's stay on a bench.

We have often wondered, watching and listening to musicians, what went on behind their appearances of gaiety and happiness. As they made with the sweet melodies of joy and projected the mood of success and contentment, were they perhaps merely playing a part? The strange death of Tommy Dorsey brings this to mind more than ever.

The Office Skeptic has a new name for the U.N. building. The Gas Works.

Dr. Sheppard Tries Again For 2nd Trial

WASHINGTON (AP)—Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard of Cleveland Monday asked the U. S. Supreme Court to reconsider its Nov. 13 refusal to review his trial and life sentence for killing his wife.

Sheppard, an osteopath, was convicted of slaying his 30-year-old pregnant wife, Marilyn, in their Bay Village, Ohio, home on July 4, 1954.

Sheppard's attorneys, in asking a Supreme Court hearing, contended that Sheppard was denied a fair trial because of adverse publicity. They said Sheppard had "a trial by newspapers."

The petition asking reconsideration of the November denial of a hearing said "the policy and precedent that results" from the denial would soon be reflected in trials all over the land, "especially in cases involving sex, sensation and crimes."

The petition added: "It will justify the acts of judges, law officers and demonstrative lawyers who covet publicity and crowd approval for their personal benefit."

"Newspapers, telecasting and broadcasting companies will point to this case as the open door to the courtroom where they can enter with impunity and approval to advance the personal interests of their companies or organizations."

"This court cannot escape the fact that these medias of publicity have launched and are carrying out a well-planned campaign to televise, broadcast and photograph sensational trials."

The petition said the denial of a tribunal "devalues the noble conception of Sheppard by the highest"

State X-Ray Cruiser Will Visit County

LISBON — The Ohio Department of Health X-ray cruiser will be in Columbiana County for X-ray examinations from January 21 through 31.

This is the only period available for Columbiana County on the X-ray cruiser's schedule next year, according to Dr. C. S. Palmer, Columbiana County Health Commissioner, who returned to his office Monday after attending meetings last week at the State Health Department's office in Columbus.

Dr. Palmer received information regarding state action if an epidemic or other disaster occurred in Columbiana County.

This will be the third county trip for the state department's X-ray cruiser. In September, 1955 a total of 1,625 persons were X-rayed in the county, and in May, 1956, over 1,660 were examined.

Dr. Palmer said all food handlers in the county must be X-rayed and should do so while the cruiser is in the county. A schedule will be made up regarding the time and place of the X-ray cruiser's visits and will be released at a later date.

Lawyer Loses Income Tax Deduction Case

WASHINGTON (AP)—A lawyer who loses money on a business venture unrelated to his practice cannot charge off the loss as a bad debt for federal income tax purposes, the Supreme Court ruled today.

The court rejected a claim by Max Putnam, Des Moines attorney, that he was entitled in his 1948 tax return to a business bad debt deduction of $9,005.

Justice Brennan delivered the 8-1 decision.

The internal revenue commissioner contended the $9,005 had to be treated as a nonbusiness bad debt, deductible only to a limited extent as a short-term capital loss.

Cadillac

Surpasses its Own Great Reputation!

You're looking at a mighty surprised man.

Almost all of his adult life he has owned Cadillac cars. And so, when he came in to see and drive the new 1957 Cadillac, he thought he knew about what to expect.

Well, here he is—barely under way in the city's traffic—and already he is learning the startling truth.

He is learning that nothing could adequately prepare a man for the new "car of cars"—not even Cadillac ownership itself!

He suspected it, in fact, the instant he caught his first glimpse of this newest Cadillac creation. This was an entirely new kind of Cadillac beauty—brilliantly fresh in line and in contour.

And then he opened the door and swung into the driver's seat—and found added evidence all around him. On every side were new miracles of interior beauty and comfort and convenience.

And when he turned the key and put his foot on the accelerator, his sentiment grew to conviction. The car was incredibly nimble and quiet and smooth of ride.

Surprised, did we say? Well, just wait until he hits a stretch of open highway.

That great new engine is incredibly responsive. There is new balance and ease of motion. And the car is so easy to handle that it seems almost to know the road.

No question about it—this is the Cadillac that literally surpasses its own great reputation!

We suggest that you come in soon to see and drive this surprising new Cadillac. It's an experience you shouldn't postpone—and one you'll not soon forget.

You'll be welcome at any time.

Barbara Ann Beery Becomes Bride Of Richard J. Clunen

New York and Vermont is the honeymoon destination of Richard James Clunen and his bride, the former Barbara Ann Beery, who pledged their marriage vows Saturday. The double ring ceremony was solemnized at 10 a.m. in St. Patrick's Church in Leetonia. Rev. W. W. Maund officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Beery of 285 W. Pershing St. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Dewey Clunen of Leetonia and the late Mr. Clunen.

Two vases of white chrysanthemums enhanced the altar decorations of shefflera and grape ivy. Tapers in twin seven-branch candleabra lighted the setting.

William Macchione of Leetonia presided at the organ while the choir sang the nuptial music. The bride was given in marriage by her father. The bodice of her rosepoint lace gown was fashioned with a Queen Anne collar and long tapered sleeves. The bouffant slip-length skirt was styled with a chapel train. Her silk illusion veil was attached to a Juliet cap adorned with pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of white pompons showered with white sweet-peas.

Miss Virginia Lukanus of W. Wilson St. was maid of honor. She wore a pink princess-style street-length dress with three-quarter length sleeves and matching pink cap and slippers. Her colonial bouquet of blue and white pompons was showered with satin ribbon.

Bridesmaids were Miss Dorothy Hileman of Leetonia and Mrs. Paul McJunkin of W. 4th St. Miss Hileman wore a blue princess-style sleeveless dress and carried a colonial bouquet of pink pompons showered with satin ribbon. Mrs. McJunkin's princess dress was coral, and her colonial bouquet was fashioned of yellow pompons showered with satin ribbon. Both bridesmaids wore rhinestone tiaras.

John Clunen of Leetonia was best man. Walter Beery, Jr., brother of the bride, and Paul McJunkin ushered.

Mrs. Beery wore a light blue suit with mauve accessories and a corsage of varicolored sweetpeas. The bridegroom's mother complemented her navy blue suit with a corsage of feathered pink carnations.

Salem Couple Wed Twenty-Five Years

Mr. and Mrs. Vern Rich of Woodland Ave. celebrated their silver wedding anniversary Sunday. The anniversary party was given by Mr. Rich's brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. William Rich, and a niece and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Alesi, at the Alesi home on Woodland Ave.

The 85 relatives and friends were registered by Miss Mary Ruth Barcus and Mrs. William G. Rich Jr. and Mrs. Eugene Baxter and children of Barbenton; Mrs. Edward Crook and granddaughter, Cheryl Coppock, of Alliance, and Mr. and Mrs. William Needham of Washingtonville.

A lace cloth covered the refreshment table which was decorated with a centerpiece of white chrysanthemums and silver foliage with a silver "25" ornament. The couple received many gifts and flowers.

Mrs. Ralph McGhee, a sister of Mr. Rich, and Mrs. Drexel Knoedler, niece, poured.

Mrs. Rich wore a yellow rose corsage sent by her nephew, James Barcus, who is attending Houghton College at Houghton, N.Y. His call of congratulations came to his aunt and uncle Sunday. Another phone call was received by the honorees from a niece, Mrs. Donald Rich, who is a patient in St. Elizabeth Hospital, Youngstown. James Barcus and his sister, Mary Ruth, have made their home with their aunt and uncle since their mother's death about 15 years ago.

Mr. Rich, a self-employed painter, has lived all his life in Salem. His wife is the former Mary Barcus of Sebring. Her mother, Mrs. Lucinda King of Beloit, was unable to attend the celebration because of illness.

Greenford Church Is Scene Of Slagle-Moore Nuptials

Miss Marilyn May Slagle became the bride of Harold Eugene Moore in a wedding ceremony performed by Rev. Arvid E. Kuitunen Nov. 24 in the Greenford Lutheran Church.

The double ring ceremony united the daughter of Owen Slagle of Greenford and the son of Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Moore of Lake Milton.

Raymond Bush, cousin of the bride, was the soloist and sang "Wedding Prayer," "I Love You Truly," "Because," and "The Lord's Prayer." Robert Smith of Lake Milton, uncle of the bridegroom, acted as organist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of Chantilly lace over satin, and an illusion veil. Her bouquet was of pink carnations.

Miss Inetta Slagle, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a coral gown and carried yellow carnations.

Bridesmaids Patty Lepsik, Marjorie Roller and Mrs. Lawrence White were wearing aqua gowns and carried pink carnation bouquets.

Flower girls were Donna Lepsik and Vickie Libb. Ring bearers were Eugene and Billie Slagle, nephews of the bride.

Ralph Corpale acted as best man, and ushers were James Puley, Edward Taylor and Paul Wilson.

Two hundred fifty guests attended the reception for the couple held in the church following the ceremony. Serving was Mrs. Don McKean of Youngstown who was assisted by Mrs. Robert Smith of Lake Milton, Mrs. Paula Smith and Mrs. Raymond Slagle of North Lima.

Following their return from a New York City wedding trip, the couple will reside at Lake Milton.

A graduate of Greenford High School and the Chopin Vocational School of Youngstown, Mrs. Moore is a practical nurse at South Side Hospital in Youngstown. Mr. Moore is associated with his father in an insurance agency.

Texas-big all over! Far longer, wider! Bigger in every important dimension!

Here, by far, is the most spacious Mercury ever built. Even with 6 big passengers, there is no "hemmed in" feeling. There's move-around comfort for all.

BIGGEST SIZE INCREASE IN THE INDUSTRY—The new Mercury is over 17 1/2 feet long, more than 6 1/2 feet wide. Close to 2 tons big. The doors are much wider for easier entrance and exit. The passenger compartment alone is almost 9 feet long. Headroom has been generously increased. THE BIG M is family-car big—with much more leg room, shoulder room, and elbow room for all the family.

FAR GREATER VISION—You are surrounded with up to 4,122 square inches of glass—more glass area than a picture window 3 feet by 9 feet. The corner posts are so slim you scarcely know they're there.

DREAM-CAR STYLED—A new look shared by no other car. Clean-cut, lean, dynamic, it will influence the shape of cars for years to come.

BIGGEST VALUE INCREASE IN THE INDUSTRY—Never before has so much bigness and luxury cost so little. Check the price tags—and our easy terms—at our showroom. You will be amazed at how little more it costs down—and per month—for a big new Mercury than for the lowest priced cars.

YOU'LL SEE DREAM-CAR FEATURES WHEREVER YOU LOOK

Weapons Can't Stifle Spirit Of Freedom

Revolt Against Russian Guns Still Smoulders In Hungary

VIENNA (AP)—The revolt against Moscow's dictation which blazed so brightly under the Russian guns just a month ago today still smoulders in neighboring Hungary.

The spectacular bid for freedom took unknown thousands of lives and may have showered its sparks into neighboring dictatorships, including that of the Soviet Union itself.

Using all the modern paraphernalia of Communist persuasion—tanks, guns, prisons and sealed deportation trains—the Russians have been unable to stifle the spirit which toppled Stalin's statue the night of Oct. 23 and sent boys and girls with rifles against T34 tanks on Nov. 4.

The Russians have all but broken the armed resistance by sheer weight of their numbers and arms. They have deported uncounted hundreds of Hungarians and sent more than 10,000 seeking asylum in the West.

But they have won very few converts for the government of Premier Janos Kadar, a supposedly "liberal" Communist thrust in as front man for the Russian dictatorship on that bloody Sunday a month ago.

Fighting is still reported between rebel guerrilla groups and Russian troops in the Hungarian countryside. Many of these reports apparently grow out of poor or nonexistent communications with Budapest. There are no reliable indications of any military action comparable with the fighting of late October and early November.

The new strength of the freedom fighters lies chiefly in the hands of the workers and students, who spearheaded the rebellion. The workers, through the formation of councils on the Titoist pattern, have been demanding a greater voice in policy making than is accorded in any "people's democracy."

They have insisted and still insist on the withdrawal of Russian troops and the restoration of former Premier Imre Nagy, who promised them free elections and the Soviet withdrawal. The Kadar government rejected these demands, although the puppet premier agreed to negotiate for Russian withdrawal after order has been restored.

It was announced officially that Nagy and about 50 persons in his party had asked to go to Romania and had been sent there. This has never been confirmed.

Kadar has said that Nagy "committed an unpardonable crime against the Hungarian nation" by failing to take action against the "counterrevolution."

Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty, a refugee in the U.S. legation in Budapest since Nov. 4, was described by Kadar as "a typical representative of fascism."

The cardinal is certain to figure prominently in future relations between the United States and Hungary.

The question uppermost in Catholic minds is whether the Kadar government will follow through on its version of the rebellion and demand that he be handed over for another trial by a Communist court. The cardinal was freed from a Communist prison sentence for treason only a few days before the Russians struck Nov. 4.

The industrial situation is most critical in the coal mines. The coal shortage has kept many industries idle. In many places the miners have said that until their demands are met, they will mine just enough for their localities and their own needs.

Hungary seems destined for a long, tight Russian dictatorship with Kadar or some other Russian-supported figurehead in front trying to save the nation for the Kremlin's empire. But refugees streaming into Austria by the thousands testify that Hungary will never again be a reliable member of the Communist family.

Minister

Negroes was this: "So long as the law says they should attend the school, I think they have a moral right to attend," the minister said. "Therefore, two or three other men and I walked with them from their homes to the school to back up this moral principle."

Turner said the man who struck him was accompanied by three other men. He said they had heckled them before he was assaulted. He has been pastor of the Clinton church for eight years.

Officials declined to say how many white or Negro students were in school today or identify any of the white men involved. Moore said about 50 persons heckled the Negroes when they entered the school. However, he said no attempt was made to molest them other than the catcalling and booing. The Negroes filed in to classes at the main entrance.

The Negroes had been absent since last Tuesday because of "abuse" they said they had been receiving at the hands of a small number of pro-segregationist white students.

Large Crowd Gathered
Principal D. J. Brittain Jr. reported a large crowd of white persons congregated outside the building as the Negroes filed in.

The Negroes' return after a 4-day absence coincided with a city election in this racially tense town. One of the chief issues was the segregation question arising from admission of 12 Negroes to the high school under federal court order.

plained, and one will be determined after the building is constructed.

The business manager, in answer to board questions, said that the exposed structural steel is considered a fire hazard because of its high conductivity of heat. It must be enclosed in fireproof plaster to be acceptable, he went on.

The unacceptable ceilings appear to be called for in the drawings, Fadelly said, in the rooms adjoining the gym and the rooms adjoining the shops.

Contractors Get Bid Forms
The business manager said he will contact the school's architects, Fulton, Krinsky, and DeLaMotte of Cleveland, to get their viewpoint on it before proceeding.

Fadelly said a large number of contractors have secured prints from the architect preparatory to submitting bids.

Fadelly said the architects believe about five construction firms will bid on the general contract. Fadelly said Salem's new school will appear costly in square-foot cost, but that a building constructed for a full school program will cost more than one erected to house a partial or inadequate school program.

He explained that he believes Salem's total school program is one of the best in the state and this will boost the cost of the new school because of the increased cost of facilities to handle such a program.

He cited the laboratories planned for the new school as one place where costs will be higher than in some other schools due to the better facilities and equipment which will be included.

Appraisal to be Made
Fadelly reported to the board that the National Appraisal Company of Pittsburgh will begin an appraisal of Salem school property the week of Dec. 10. The appraisal will require about a month to complete, he said.

Fadelly told board members that the property at 515 Ohio Ave., recently acquired by the board, is being torn down by Carl Spencer for the materials in the building. He said work may be complete by the end of the month.

A parking lot for Reilly School will then be built there.

The board approved purchase of a new firing kiln for the high school art class at a cost of $175. It also approved purchase of a new roll-former for the high school metals class at a cost of $260.

Permission was granted to Kerr and Fadelly to attend the Ohio Education Assn. meeting in Cincinnati Dec. 6-8.

Three Drivers Fined

$175 By Lisbon Mayor

LISBON — A Girard man cited for drunken driving was among three drivers fined a total of $175 and costs Monday night by Mayor Wilbur Warren. Two other drivers forfeited bonds when they failed to appear for scheduled hearings.

Peter Nail, 49, of Girard, was fined $150 and costs and was given a 3-day jail sentence for driving while intoxicated.

Vincent J. Kelley of RD 1, Kensington was fined $15 and costs for driving left of center line.

Theodore Kibler, 41, of RD 2, East Rochester was fined $10 with costs suspended, for failing to yield the right of way.

James Ferrari of Brownsline, Pa., forfeited a $25 bond for reckless operation and James D. Copenhaver of Sparks, W. Va., forfeited a $20 bond for excessive speed.

'Family Night' Set
At Baptist Church
"Family night" will be observed in the First Baptist Church tonight at 7:30 when Rev. Mel Martin Dibble, an evangelist and former television personality, will speak on "The American Home or Cause of Juvenile Delinquency."

Corsages will be awarded to the mother of the largest family and the youngest mother.

Rev. Dibble will base his sermon on his experiences with youth. The cause of juvenile delinquency is found not in youth but in their background in home training and church emphasis, he believes.

The spiritual crusade at the Baptist Church will extend nightly at 7:30 through Sunday.

U.N. Split Over Call To Oust Hungarians

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Non-Communist U.N. delegates were reported split today over whether to press for the ouster of Hungary's delegation to the General Assembly if the Budapest government persists in barring U.N. observers.

Some diplomats were said to feel the only way to get action from the Communists would be a concerted move to reject the Hungarians' credentials. Others feared such a step might create a dangerous precedent.

The expulsion move — brewing for the past week — gained momentum in the Assembly after Hungary repeated her refusal to admit U.N. observers. She opened the door only to the extent of agreeing to receive U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld "at a later date."

Cuban delegate Emilio Nunez-Portuondo quickly reiterated his demand that Hungary's delegation be expelled.

"They are no one," he declared to the Assembly. "They came here to hoodwink us."

The United States — moving spirit behind a 14-nation resolution calling for admission of the observers — was reported giving the expulsion proposal close consideration. But informants said U.S. officials questioned whether such an unprecedented move could muster the two-thirds majority needed for passage in the 79-nation Assembly.

Asian nations, many of whom don't relish becoming embroiled in an East-West squabble, were said to be strongly opposed to expulsion even though they backed the U.S. stand on observers.

The Russians were reported ready to boycott any debate on Hungary if the assembly took such strong action as expulsion.

County 4-H Council Meets, Hears Reports

LISBON — Twenty-one persons attended the 4-H Council meeting at the county extension office Monday evening. Mrs. Ruth Freshkorn of Wellsville is president.

A new judging system was discussed and was accepted by the Council. Mrs. Frank Hahn of RD 2, Minerva, gave a report on state 4-H Council meeting held in Columbus last month.

Paul Zehentbauer of RD 1, Hanover, gave a talk on the national 4-H Congress which he attended in Chicago.

The Mahoning County Junior Leadership 4-H Club is sponsoring a toy drive. Members will collect old or discarded toys and repair them for distribution to children's homes and individual needy families.

Anyone having toys that can be used for this project may call Barbara Razo, Lincoln 2-3801; Susie Gidley, Edgewood 2-5878; David Kimmel, Lennox 3-4449; Dennis Unger, Lennox 3-4579; Janet Mincks, Jerome 7-4258.

Man, Acquitted Of Murder, Gets Job Back

CINCINNATI (AP)—Robert V. Lyons got back a job with the city water department Monday — nine days after his acquittal on a murder charge.

Lyons, 43, formerly was a meter reader, but now he's repairing the water meters.

He was found innocent on a first degree murder charge in the knifing death of Mrs. Audrey Evers Pugh, Hyde Park socialite.

Car Hits Boy Near East Liverpool

Michael McGahan, 10, of East Liverpool received a fractured right collarbone yesterday when he was hit by a car driven by John W. Jackson, 35, of East Liverpool on County Road 430, two miles north of East Liverpool at 3:20 p.m.

State highway patrolmen said the boy, in turning away from a mail box did not see Jackson's car. The auto struck McGahan, knocking him into a ditch. He was treated at the East Liverpool City hospital and released.

Ellsworth

lin will be given to students of the Ellsworth school and will be distributed to residents throughout the township.

In other action, the board decided to send a letter to the Berlin Center School board advising of the Ellsworth board's recent recommendations.

Context of the letter is: "The Ellsworth Board voted (at a special meeting Nov. 26) to apply to the Mahoning County Board of Education for consideration of a school jointure."

"The Ellsworth Township Board of Education also voted unanimously to recommend a jointure with the Berlin Center School District. As per our previous discussions, we hope your board will give this proposal careful consideration."

Letters were also prepared for the Jackson-Milton and Greenford school boards thanking them for their courtesies extended the Ellsworth Board during talks when those districts were under the board's consideration for consolidation.

The board also decided to seek a definite answer from the Canfield school board as to whether that school district can handle Ellsworth tuition during the 1957-58 school year. The Canfield board previously had said it might "possibly" be unable to accept tuition students next fall. That board had passed a resolution Nov. 1 which specified that it opposed consolidation with the Ellsworth district.

Next Meeting Is Jan. 7

The public meeting tentatively scheduled by the Ellsworth board for sometime after Christmas was cancelled at last night's meeting. The board will meet again Jan. 7.

Merl Hively, a member of the board, suggested that Ellsworth ask the Berlin Center board for a joint meeting to discuss problems confronting the two districts. However, some of the board members felt that such an action would be premature since the board was not completely certain the Ellsworth public was entirely for the venture, although they agreed such a meeting would be advantageous at a later date.

Hively said if the two boards would meet, the consolidation change would be less sudden and jolting and views of the individual boards could be aptly expressed before the consolidation.

Jay Rudolph, Ellsworth School principal, said that if the consolidation goes into effect each board will be given the chance to make certain recommendations which will be considered by the new board after merging.

The question of whether next year's seniors of the Ellsworth district, now attending Canfield, should be allowed to continue at Canfield until their graduation was also discussed. However, Lloyd Helsel, another board member, said that when students are sent out of the district the money goes to the schools they attend; and that such a move would harm the local district.

Action on placing a fence in front of the school as a protection for students and blacktopping the driveway at the rear of the school was deferred until the early spring.

Rudolph announced that the faculty and school board Christmas dinner would be held Dec. 14 at 6:30 p.m. in the school.

Board members at the meeting included Klyne, Helsel, Hively, Harold Brown and Dr. Duncan Hogg. Robert McDonald is clerk.

Two Marion Men Killed When Auto Hits Tree

MARION, Ohio (AP)—Two Marion men were killed about two miles east of here on U. S. 30S early today when their car missed a curve and hit a tree.

The victims were identified by the state highway patrol as Gene Ziegler, 36, and William Bowman, 25. The patrol said the car apparently was traveling at high speed when it hit the tree.

Westville Church Class Entertained

WESTVILLE — The Friendship Sunday School Class of Westville Church was entertained Saturday evening at the home of Rev. and Mrs. Russell Myers with a good attendance.

James Kasso read the scripture and Rev. Myers offered prayer.

A recent benefit netted $45. Names were taken of shut-ins to call on instead of gift exchange. The class presented Rev. and Mrs. Myers with a Christmas gift check. Christmas games were enjoyed with Mrs. Hugh McCracken, Mrs. James Kasso, Ed Knight winning prizes.

A coverdish luncheon was served in buffet style by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Alfred Morris and Mrs. Robert Trummer. The January meeting will be at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Wuthrick.

Mr. and Mrs. Roger Cameron were surprised Sunday afternoon when relatives gathered at their home to help celebrate their tenth wedding anniversary. Refreshments were served and the honored couple received gifts. Guests were present from Canfield, North Benton, Sebring and RD. Beloit.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Fetters and daughter of North Georgetown were Sunday supper guests of Mrs. Mary Fetters.

Mrs. George Smith left Monday morning for Milwaukee, Ore. to visit her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. McArthur.

The Cozy Corner Club will have their Christmas dinner and exchange at Timberlanes at Salem Thursday evening.

LeMay Says Russians Gaining In Airpower

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gen. Curtis E. LeMay says that despite Soviet progress in airpower, his Strategic Air Command still has the edge.

But LeMay, who commands this country's long-range, nuclear-armed striking force, told a Georgetown University audience Monday night:

"These Soviet gains are steadily narrowing our presently favorable margin."

The SAC chief said that five years ago he would have said a war with Russia could have been won without serious damage to the United States.

He said he still believes such a war could be won by the United States, "but this nation would suffer serious losses."

"Just so long as this nation's capacity to win war is clearly recognized by the potential aggressor, there will be no war," LeMay asserted. "But once the potential aggressor doubts this capacity, the peace of the world is in jeopardy."

Two County Prince Of Peace Contests Set For Columbiana

Booster Club Will Elect Officers On Wednesday

COLUMBIANA — Because of the number of contestants, two Columbiana County "Prince of Peace" oratorical contests have been found necessary to determine who shall represent the county in the district contest.

The contests will be held in Lisbon Methodist Church and New Waterford Methodist Church at 3 p.m. Sunday.

Rev. Thomas Hammerton of the Lisbon Church, and Rev. Charles Richardson of the New Waterford Church will provide judges for the contests in their respective churches.

The plan was outlined at a meeting with Rev. Donald J. Voelm, county chairman, in his office in Grace Evangelical and Reformed Church, Columbiana, last Friday. Participants are requested to be at the respective contest sites 15 minutes before the hour for drawing of speaking positions.

Contestants at Lisbon will be Shirley Holzer, East Palestine; Sally Snowball, Salem; Carol Gallo, Leetonia; Janet Wilson, Wells; Nancy Perrine and Marjorie Anderson, Columbiana; Glenda Zellers, RD. Alliance.

Contestants at New Waterford will be Jean Converse and Jill Sanders, Leetonia; William Jacobson, Salem; Carol Oakley and Marjorie Stump, East Palestine; Mary Jo Ann, Columbiana, and the winner of Beaver Local contest to be held.

Election of officers is scheduled for the December meeting of the Booster Club in the High School building at 8 p.m. tomorrow, when the secretary, Wilder Foerch, will report 270 members signed up for next year. A large number of the cards sent out have still not been returned.

The club has had some lady members who were interested in its civic projects of support of school athletics and the summer recreation program at Firestone Park along with providing trips for sports teams and an annual athletic banquet. More women have responded to the special invitation extended them. All persons interested along lines of club projects are invited to the meeting tomorrow night. Refreshments will be served.

The club is selling Christmas trees again this year. Its stand is at the vacant area left by the fire on S. Main St. last January.

THE METHODIST W.S.C.S. will have its Christmas meeting at the church Thursday, with coverdinner at noon, persons attending to take coverdinner and table service. There will be a white elephant gift exchange, and those accompanied by a child are asked to take a gift for the children's exchange.

An offering for the children's home at Berea will be received. Mrs. George Hess, vice president, and her committee have planned a program of entertainment. Mrs. Harold Husted and Mrs. Paul Posey will have charge of decorations.

Queen Esther Class of Grace Evangelical and Reformed Church will meet at the home of Mrs. Carrie Pfau, 19 Union St., tomorrow evening, with a coverdinner at 6:30. Meat, rolls, butter, coffee and cream will be provided, those attending to take table service. There will be a 50-cent gift exchange. Associate hostesses will be Mrs. Laura Gustafson, Mrs. Edith Sprague and Mrs. Dorothy Haas.

A panel discussion on missions is planned for the meeting of Miriam Circle in the Presbyterian Church at 8 p.m. today. Mrs.

ANOTHER NAVY FIRST — The USS Gyatt, the Navy's first guided missile equipped destroyer, is being readied for commissioning at the Boston Naval Shipyard. Two of the Terrier guided missiles are shown in launching position on the stern of the ship.

Martini Death Suit Thrown Out Of Court

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—A $50,000 damage suit filed after Louis Angoff drank 16 martinis and dropped dead was thrown out of Montgomery County Common Pleas Court Monday.

Judge Charles Lee Mills ruled: While it is illegal under state law to sell liquor to an intoxicated person, the bartender would have been responsible for damages only if he had been issued an order by the state department of liquor control not to serve Angoff.

Angoff, 25, collapsed in front of the bar last Aug. 7 after winning a bet that he could drink 16 martinis in less than two hours.

His father filed the suit.

Woman Given Life Sentence

Major's Wife Killed Two Elderly People

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The 32-year-old wife of an Air Force major is expected to be taken to Marysville Reformatory for Women within five days to begin serving a life prison term for the butcher knife slaying of an elderly Groveport couple.

Mrs. Blanche E. Jacobs was sentenced to life imprisonment Monday by Franklin County Common Pleas Judge Joseph M. Harter after she pleaded guilty to two counts of second degree murder. She will be eligible for parole in 10 years.

Neatly dressed, the attractive Mrs. Jacobs, mother of three young children, sobbed quietly in the packed courtroom.

Her husband, Maj. Eugene Jacobs, 35, wept audibly as he left the courtroom after sentence was passed. He is stationed at nearby Lockbourne Air Force Base.

Mrs. Jacobs pleaded guilty in exchange for Prosecutor Samuel L. Devine's offer to reduce the charge from first to second degree murder.

Devine said she showed up at Columbus police headquarters last July 4 and told officers she murdered Andrew J. Robinson, 74, and his wife, Maude, 73, her neighbors and landlords in suburban Groveport, when they questioned her about checks to which she had forged their names.

Mrs. Jacobs told police she attacked Mrs. Robinson with a rolling pin and later slashed Robinson with the butcher knife when he came to his wife's aid, Devine said.

The slayings occurred in the Robinson home July 2. Mrs. Jacobs then locked up the home and hid the crime for three days.

She told other neighbors the Robinsons were in the hospital and, later, that they had gone to Florida, the prosecutor said. She even telephoned one neighbor pretending to be Mrs. Robinson, he added, but the neighbor recognized her voice.

At Lima State Hospital, where she was taken for psychiatric examination after the killings, she was declared legally sane although Devine said reports indicated she was "emotionally disturbed."

Says American Children Have Dirtiest Mouths

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—"American children have the dirtiest mouths in the world," according to Dr. Maury Massler, head of the children's dentistry department of the University of Illinois college of dentistry.

This is paradoxical as American mothers spend so much time keeping their children's bodies and clothes clean, Massler said Monday.

He spoke to the Southwestern Annual Dental Assembly. The Chicago dentist said there are two main reasons children of other nations have fewer cavities: "They eat each meal with fruit, nature's toothbrush, or in the case of Mohammedan children, they wash out their mouths with water; second, only American children are allowed to eat sweets between meals."

Junior High Music Event Is Dec. 12

The Fourth Street Junior High school choruses will present their annual Christmas program at the school Parent-Teachers Association meeting next Wednesday evening, Dec. 12, in the school auditorium. The program will feature songs by the seventh grade chorus, eighth grade chorus, the eighth grade girls chorus, brass ensemble and the school band.

F. Edwin Miller is vocal director and Richard Howenstone instrumental director.

Last Survivor Of Sitting Bull Band Dies

MOOSE JAW, Sask. (AP)—Mrs. Julia Lethbridge, 90, believed to be the last surviving member of the Sitting Bull band of Indians who fled to Canada after the Custer massacre at Little Big Horn, Mont., in 1876, is dead. Word reached Moose Jaw that Mrs. Lethbridge died Nov. 12 at Fort Qu'Appelle, Sask.

First Dream

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Don't worry about their first dreams instead of just reasoning them:

Joe Louis wouldn't owe Uncle Sam more than any boxer in history. He'd be blowing trumpet in a top jazz band, just like his hero, Louis "Satchmo" Armstrong.

Imogene Coca would be a psychiatrist, playwright, or author. (She never did want to be just one thing.)

Groucho Marx and evangelist Billy Graham would be farmers.

Vaughn Monroe and Gloria Swanson would be opera singers and actress Janet Leigh would be teaching music therapy.

Archbishop Cushing of Boston would be a concert violinist, and Libera would be an undertaker (the profession his father hoped he'd follow.)

Wally Cox would be a playwright, comedian Sid Caesar "another Albert Einstein," Debbie Reynolds a gym teacher, and designer Adrian a zoo keeper.

Colonist Drew Pearson would have been a diplomat.

One of the oldest dreams of all: Marilyn Monroe said she wanted to be a cover girl on "The Ladies' Home Journal."

What does all this prove? Merely that it pays to know when to let go of a dream—and get a better one.

Meanwhile, most of us, if asked what we'd like to be that we once wanted and now aren't, would probably answer today—

"Solvent!"

3% Interest Okayed On Savings Accounts

WASHINGTON (AP)—Starting Jan. 1, federally insured commercial banks may pay 3 per cent interest on savings accounts and certain other deposits.

The government Monday authorized the increase from the current 2½ per cent ceiling in a move aimed at spurring savings and making available more money for capital investment.

The increase applies not only to savings accounts, but to time deposits and certificates which run longer than six months. Those between 90 days and six months now may carry 2½ per cent interest, up from 2 per cent.

Court Lets Stand Order To Integrate Schools

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court today let stand a decision requiring "prompt" admission of Negro students to the Mansfield, Tex., High School.

The tribunal rejected an appeal from the Mansfield Board of Education that it review the decision given by the U. S. Circuit Court in New Orleans.

East Palestine's Linder Named To AP All-Ohio 2nd Team

Alliance Star Named Center; 2 Liverpool Players Picked

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Recognition of gridiron greatness was won by the state's standouts today as The Associated Press announced its 1956 all-Ohio high school football team.

The selections, made with the aid of more than 400 coaches, sports editors and officials, are recognized as official by the Ohio High School Football Coaches' Assn.

For years the Buckeyes scholastic gridirons have been the "happy hunting grounds" for talent-seeking college scouts, and this season's crop is one of the most talented and versatile in decades.

They come from everywhere, these all-Ohio jewels, from metropolitan Cleveland right down to little Rutland (pop. 554) of Meigs County. Since the Ohio boys use the unlimited substitution plan, defensive as well as offensive units were selected as 66 youngsters won their berths on the three top teams.

The first string appears ready right now to roam the collegiate fields.

A stalwart line, averaging 206 from end to end and almost six feet two inches in height, spearheads the offensive corps. Behind it is a backfield capable of running around or through, or passing over, most any defense.

Ike Grimsley, who led Canton McKinley to its second straight state championship, is the quarterback. A left-handed passer and cute as a magician on the option play, he scored a dozen touchdowns, passed for 11 others and booted 46 extra points. He has everything.

At halfback are Jim Tiller, star at Fremont Ross for four years, who tallied 30 touchdowns this year for a career total of 62, and Wayne Fontes of Canton McKinley, who counted 24 touchdowns and two extra points. The fullback is Troy's "B-Bomb," Bobby Ferguson, who romped for 31 touchdowns in nine all-winning games.

The backfield scored 635 points. Ferguson at 190 is the big man of the quartet. Tiller the smallest at 155, and Grimsley and Fontes being the same size at 5-11 and 175. The end positions went to Bob Williams of Canton McKinley and Leon Mitchell of Middletown, the former being the lone repeater from last year. Each is 6-2, and a defensive standout as well as a blocking, pass-catching threat.

James Tryer, Newark's 235-pound 6-6 giant, and Bill Bloomington of Marietta, 214 and 6-2, grabbed the tackle spots. At guard are Hamilton's Oscar Hauer, 205 and 6-2, and Gary Loftus of East Cleveland Shaw. Loftus is only 5-9 and 187, but has speed and tenacity to burn, is a straight-A student, blocked five punts and intercepted seven passes along with his offensive chores.

The center spot went to Curt Binkley, 6-1 and 225, of Alliance. There was little difference between the offensive and defensive units in size, speed or scoring power, most of the boys playing both ways. But the ones too stubborn to give ground were named to the defensive corps.

On that unit are found such offensive stalwarts as Mansfield's Jim Lutz, one of the state's fine fullbacks; Mike Hersberger, the big man on the Massillon squad; Tony Callachia of Youngstown Ursuline, rated one of the finest ball carriers from that area in years, and Paul Fields, the all-around triple-threat from Cambridge.

Close behind the first stringers, and relegated to the second and third squads because there just wasn't room on top, were such standout backs as Jack Ward of Mansfield, a great passer; Jim Kerr of St. Clairsville, who scored 149 points; Jim Lindner, East Palestine's No. 1 carrier; Tom Matte of East Cleveland Shaw, and right on down to Jim Cremins of Rutland who soared over the 200-point mark as he and his mates swept a nine-game slate. Cremins, the only small school player to make the squad, wound up on the third team.

Most of the youngsters are seniors, and many of them will show up this weekend on the North-South all-star squads to be selected by the coaches for next August's Yankee-Rebel classic at Canton.

Sooners Voted No. 1 In U. S.

Edge Out Tennessee In Final AP Voting

The Associated Press

Oklahoma's high-powered Sooners, winners of 40 straight games after chalking up 10 triumphs this season, have been acclaimed the Nation's No. 1 college football team for the second successive year.

In the final poll conducted by The Associated Press, 187 sports writers and broadcasters gave the Sooners a total of 1,715 votes compared with 1,618 for the second-place Tennessee Volunteers, who are headed for the Sugar Bowl after an unblemished record in 10 games.

The Sooners, who retired the Rev. J. Hugh O'Donnell, C.S.C. Memorial Trophy, were placed first on 104 ballots. Tennessee received 48 first-place votes. The others were scattered among seven teams, topped by Iowa's 15 and Miami's 12.

The O'Donnell trophy, put into competition by Notre Dame in honor of the former president of the South Bend, Ind., university, now has been won three times by Oklahoma. The Sooners won their first leg on the trophy in 1950.

Iowa's Rose Bowl bound Hawkeyes, who had their best season since 1922 with an 8-1 record finished third. They compiled 1,270 points on the basis of 10 points for first, 9 for second, 8 for third, etc.

Georgia Tech, who'll meet Pitt in the Gator bowl, was right behind Iowa in fifth place with 1,211 votes. The Engineers were followed by Texas A&M with 1,070; Miami, 887; Michigan, 599; Syracuse, 406; Michigan State, 309; and Oregon State, 299.

Wilt The Stilt Scores 52 In Cage Debut

By The Associated Press

Wilt Chamberlain no longer is just a wild myth. He really is a stringbean shadow of a guy who scores basketball points like a kid gulps chocolate.

The Kansas Jayhawks have him, all seven feet of him, and Wilt was never in better appetite than when he chewed up both the school's offensive and defensive records in a debut Monday night that produced an 87-69 victory over Northwestern, one of the Big Ten favorites.

The final count was 52 points scored and 31 rebounds plucked off the boards for the young Philadelphia man believe will become the greatest big man in basketball history.

Chamberlain's arrival was only one part of a night's development that indicated that the Big Seven conference, which has its trouble finding football opposition for big brother Oklahoma, is in shape to meet all comers on the basketball court.

For while long Wilt was treating a season-opening crowd of 15,000 at Lawrence, Kan., little Gary Thompson was firing in 35 points as Iowa State whipped Houston 92-73. Nebraska was pounding defending Big Ten champion Iowa 67-43, and Colorado was beating highly favored Oregon State 67-58.

Sebring Griddler Is UC Co-Captain

CINCINNATI (AP)—Two seniors—center Gus Del Rose of Cleveland and halfback Jim Niemann of Cincinnati—got the lions' share of awards at the University of Cincinnati's annual "C" Club football dinner Monday night.

Del Rosa was voted "most valuable player" by his teammates and "most efficient lineman"—both for the second straight year. Niemann, standout blocker and defensive player, was named the most efficient back.

Jack Gordon of Hamilton, 1956 team captain, received a trophy emblematic of team leadership. Dick Seomin of Sebring and Ron Coach George Blackburn, who co-captains of the 1957 football squad.

Coach George Blackburn, who got an ovation at the dinner, said UC's four-win, five-loss season was "rough," but that "we have a young coaching staff and have a lot to learn, but we are learning."

Varsity letters were awarded to 32 members of the 1956 squad, including Ron Conkel, Steubenville; Gordon; Paul Johnson, Middletown; Couch; Charles Black, Fremont; and Joe Morrison, Lima.

Big 10 Athletic Aid Program Hits Snag

CHICAGO (AP)—A new financial aids program for athletes to be voted on Friday by Big Ten faculty representatives is expected to hit a snag.

Assistant Commissioner Bill Reed said Monday "I've heard some opposition to the plan in the last two months. Mainly this has been on the basis that the plan is not sufficiently liberal. There also have been questions posed on the basis that it is too complicated, on its workability on the expenses involved."

In general, the plan calls for uniform aid for athletes provided on a basis of need. The aid involves board, room, tuition and books.

Under the plan, any athlete receiving unauthorized aid would lose all athletic eligibility in the conference.

Unanimous approval is needed from the faculty representatives otherwise the plan will be shelved for 60 days and then put to an institutional vote. In this case, too, a majority would be required for adoption.

Mrs. Moncrief Wins .22 Rifle Match

Mrs. Robert Moncrief won first place in a special match at the Salem Hunting Club Sunday in a .22 rifle shoot.

Second place went to Mrs. Dave Kirby, and third place and a special award went to Robert Moncrief.

Women competed with the men in a match which drew 12 shooters.

Mr. and Mrs. James Ivan won the traveling trophy on the previous Sunday, when they shot a tie off with Mr. and Mrs. George Stowe.

The next shoot is scheduled for Dec. 30 at 1:30 at the club range.

Robinson Sick, Title Bout Is Postponed

By DON WEISS

NEW YORK (AP)—Gene Fullmer and Marv Jensen, a discouraged challenger and an agitated manager, had a date with the New York State Athletic Commission today — the two latest victims of Sugar Ray Robinson and his pre-fight malades.

Robinson came down with a severe cold Monday, necessitating a postponement of his middleweight title defense against the rugged, young Fullmer from Dec. 12 to Jan. 2 at Madison Square Garden.

It was all in good and legitimate order, including announcement of the findings by a commission physician concerning the champion's condition and inability to fight as scheduled.

But with Robinson, there's always the nagging complication of a past history which reveals something on the order of 25 pre-fight fadeouts, including one a couple years ago that followed the weigh-in at noon on the day of a scheduled bout.

Fullmer and Jensen, who negotiated and waited for upwards of six months to get a fight with the champion, got more notice. But the way Jensen reacted, he could not have been more stunned had Robinson been stricken climbing through the ropes.

The manager from West Jordan, Utah, claimed the title by immediate default, claimed it if Sugar Ray didn't show up at the Garden on the 12th and tore up the current contract and got one with better terms for the challenger.

When advised that the contract, legally signed, included a post-clause if needed, Jensen settled for a plan to visit Chairman Julius Helfand of the commission to claim the $2,000 guarantee Robinson had posted.

While Jensen went around in circles, Robinson was confined to his bed in Riverdale, N.Y.

Zora Folley Beats Bethea On Decision

NEW YORK (AP)—If Zora Folley can sustain his attack over a full 10 rounds without tiring, the young man from Phoenix, Ariz., can become a factor in the heavyweight class.

Folley, making his first New York start, wilted badly in the late stages Monday night and just managed to grab a majority decision over willing Wayne Bethea of New York's Bronx. He hadn't been out since his Sept. 25 victory over Nino Valdes at Phoenix.

Judge Frank Fullam scored it 6-3-1 for Folley, referee Teddy Martin saw it 6-4 for Bethea and judge Leo Birnbaum wound up with a 5-5 tally in rounds but gave the decisive vote to Folley on points 6-5. The AP card had Folley on top 6-3-1 and a poll of ringside press revealed a unanimous ballot for the newcomer.

Detroit light-heavyweight Chuck Spieser was a captain in the U.S. Air Force.

Tigers Get Jim Finigan

Kansas City Receives Ned Garver, Trucks

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—The Detroit Tigers have climaxed two years of trying by landing infielder Jim Finigan from the Kansas City Athletics.

Finigan and three other players were acquired from the A's Monday night by the Tigers who traded off three pitchers and reserve first baseman Wayne Belardi in the first major deal since the club changed hands at the end of the season.

In the Kansas City package with Finigan were first baseman Eddie Robinson and pitchers Ed Blake and Bill Harrington. Harrington immediately was assigned to the Tigers' Charleston, W. Va. farm. Blake, one-time Cincinnati righthander, had been drafted by the A's earlier in the day from Toronto where last year he had the best earned run average in the International League.

Kansas City, which tossed $20,000 to $30,000 into the deal, received Ned Garver, sidelined almost all last season with a sore arm; Virgil Trucks, 38-year-old veteran hurler who has talked seriously of retiring; Gene Host, 23-year-old lefthander who had a 13-15 mark with Charleston in 1956, and Belardi.

The Tigers tried all last winter to land Finigan. He probably will take over third base at least at the start, while the club experiments with Ray Boone at first base.

Only Buckeyes Win In Big 10 Cage Contests

By The Associated Press
Big Ten basketball teams — with the exception of Ohio State — were beaten across the board Monday night in intersectional contests with Iowa's defending champions among the victims.

The two-time champion Hawkeyes, stripped of their entire starting lineup by graduations, fell before Nebraska, 67-43.

Northwestern found Wilt (The Stilt) Chamberlain as great as his clippings claimed and lost to Kansas, 87-69, and Wisconsin suffered its second straight loss, bowing to Butler, 54-50.

Ohio State, however, maintained what little prestige that remained in pounding Pitt, 100-69, for its second straight triumph.

Nebraska's victory over Iowa was its first in three games and the Cornhuskers had the matter in hand at halftime when they held a 41-23 lead.

Chamberlain made his varsity debut and pumped in 52 points, setting a host of Kansas records. Despite Chamberlain, sophomore Joe Ruklick pumped in 2 points before fouling out with more than 9 minutes to play. Kansas held a 42-34 edge at intermission.

Bob Litow was the brunt of Wisconsin's attack and he led both teams in scoring with 20 points. However, no other Badger could hit in double figures. Butler was ahead 28-20 at the half.

Powerful Frank Howard tossed in 29 points and controlled both backboards in leading the Buckeyes to their one-sided victory. Pitt managed to tie the Bucks eight times in the first half but Ohio State broke out to a 42-32 halftime advantage and was never endangered thereafter.

Indiana makes its debut tonight against Valparaiso and Illinois opens its campaign against Butler Wednesday.

Mrs. McCormick Wins Diving Medal; U. S. Lead Grows Slim

By TED SMITS

MELBOURNE (AP)—Mrs. Pat McCormick, trying for an unprecedented Olympic "double double" won the women's springboard diving for America's only gold medal today as Uncle Sam's precious point total melted under the pressure of Russian shooting victories.

Mrs. McCormick, 26-year-old Lakewood, Calif. housewife whose husband is the team's coach, easily defeated the 11 other finalists. Pert little Jeanne Stunyo, a University of Detroit coed, from Gary, Ind. was second and Irene McDonald of Canada was third.

Barbara Gilders of Detroit was fourth. In 1952 at Helsinki, Mrs. McCormick won both the springboard and platform titles. The platform competition will be held later in the week.

Russia took gold medals in two shooting events and tallied 31 points with other placings to carve America's margin in the unofficial point totals. At the end of the day, the United States had 490 points to Russia's 452½, a loss of 11 points. The U. S. had 29 gold medals to 20 for Russia.

Murray Rose, 17-year-old Australian blond, smashed the Olympic record in winning the men's 400-meter freestyle race in 4:27.3 with plenty to spare over Japan's Takeshi Yamanaka. America's only finalist, George Breen of Buffalo, N. Y. finished third behind Rose and the surprising 17-year-old Japanese high school boy.

With the exception of the women's diving, Breen was Uncle Sam's only point getter for the day with four for third place. However, his specialty is the 1,500-meter race in which he again will meet the handsome Australian.

Breen led slightly at the 100-meter mark but the Japanese boy caught him soon. As they touched for the 200 meters, it was Rose, Yamanaka and Breen. Rose poured it on in the final 50 meters as the swim stadium shook with the roar of its packed crowd of 5,500 fans.

Mrs. McCormick, mother of an infant daughter, climaxed her performance with a perfectly executed one and a half backward somersault with a one and a half twist to gain a whopping 17.4 points on her final dive. She finished with a total of 142.36 points. Miss Stunyo took second with 125.89 and Miss McDonald was third a shade ahead of Miss Gilders, a tiny 19-year-old Detroit.

One of the surprises of the diving event was the good showing of the Russians with Valentina Tchoumitcheva finished fifth, just back of Miss Gilders. The Russians never have been a diving threat in the past.

America has a chance to pick up points in women's swimming Wednesday where a 1-2-3 sweep is a distinct possibility in the 100-meter butterfly event. Shelley Mann of Arlington, Va. beat the listed world's record for the best time in the trials, Nancy Jane Ramsey of Mercer Island, Wash., and Mary Jane Sears of Chevy Chase, Md. could take second and third.

CARS ARE MY LINE

by Al Parker
ARE OUR SPEED LAWS SENSIBLE?

Everybody has heard that old saying that the safest way to drive is to imagine everyone else on the road is a half-witted moron.

It's a good enough rule, but I suspect that when highway traffic laws are prepared, the lawmakers have the same thought in mind. Take speed limits for instance. Speed limits reveal in two ways that no one really trusts the man behind the wheel.

First of all, there's the matter of over all speed limits, the same limit applying to almost every highway. Every motorist has had the feeling that it would be perfectly safe to go 60 on a clear, dry four-lane highway where the limit is 50, but he would be scared silly to go 50 on a crooked, bumpy road where the law says the safe speed is also 50.

No one defends the crazy, irresponsible speeder, but we tend to think that giving any latitude in speed limits would send us all throttling madly to our deaths. That's the second point, that drivers are going to set the speed limits themselves anyway, and laws should take some recognition of it.

There's a section of the Pennsylvania Turnpike that was engineered to be safe at 90 — and the speed limit is 70 miles an hour. A 13-year study showed recently that the average speed in this 70-mile an hour zone was only 59 miles an hour — people just didn't want to travel that fast.

There were a few maniacs, sure. But it was also shown that cars going over the speed limit of 70 were involved in only 2 percent of the accidents on that road. Drivers aren't such bad people after all.

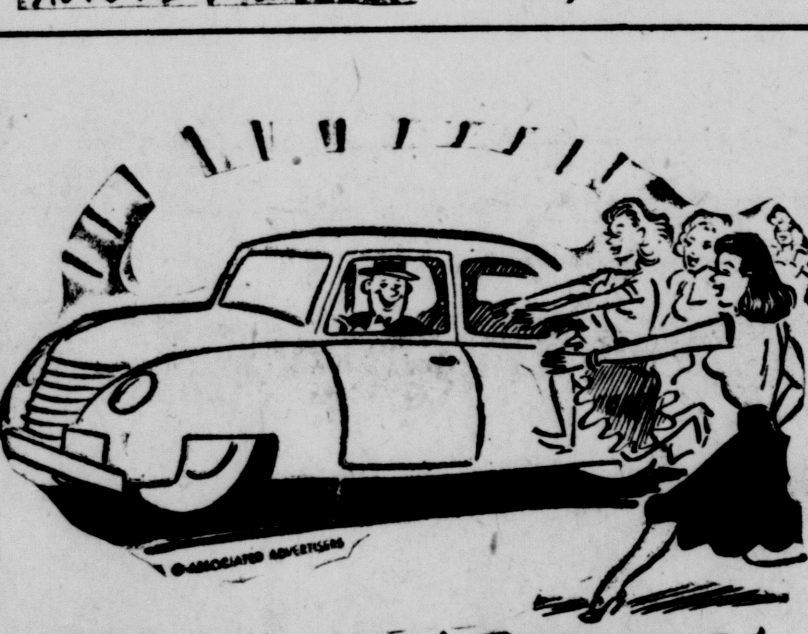

If you are interested in a "high flying" sharpie — check this beautiful 1956 Plymouth V-8 Belvedere 4-Door Hard-Top. Generously equipped with powerlite transmission, radio, turn signals, back-up lights, white walls and finished in a beautiful two-tone. You just can't top this value at only $2495.

Did you ever know a love 'em and leave 'em suitor who convinced all the gals he was just a blushing angel? That describes some people in the car business we're going to talk about next week.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

This moment should not slip into limbo without my jotting into footnote to the argumentative, angry history of the past decade.

Victor Riesel

Some years ago I was asked to relay a message to J. Edgar Hoover from the late Philip Murray.

An intimate friend and colleague of Mr. Murray sought me out in an ante-room of a CIO convention.

The intermediary, himself once a high wartime Intelligence officer, told me that the CIO chief was angered and disturbed by the introduction by left wingers of resolutions criticizing the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Mr. Murray wanted the FBI director to know that these super-charged blasts at the FBI did not really reflect CIO or its leaders.

Mr. Murray was letting the resolutions slip through silently into deserved obscurity without open debate because the noise the left-wingers would make on the convention floor, in that case, would be loud indeed.

IT WAS BETTER, he felt, to permit the words to get into the small print of unread convention proceedings without fanfare.

Mr. Murray wanted J. Edgar Hoover to know that the real leaders of CIO had considerable respect for the FBI as a civil libertarian force.

This message was duly conveyed. In subsequent years, I learned first hand that other labor leaders of Mr. Murray's stature viewed our national police agency even as he did.

They felt, and feel today, that Mr. Hoover has made a concept as well as a counter-intelligence force of his bureau — a crusade as well as a crime-busting offensive.

All this comes to mind as I have read to me a new book, "The FBI Story," by Don Whitehead (Random House). I report this not as a well-deserved review of an excitingly written relay of adventures, but as a news story in itself.

I leave to you to read the swift recounting of crime detection by methods which include the tracing of a piece of paper by the laboratory testings of the marks of a knife which cut the paper as well as the pad from which the single sheet came.

TO ME THE NEWS in this book is in Mr. Whitehead's report of Hoover's attitude toward labor and liberals and intellectuals — and the sophisticated understanding of their intricate philosophical problems.

Reflecting Mr. Hoover, Mr. Whitehead says in his last chapter: "In looking back over the years, one interesting strand of this (FBI) story has been the FBI's relationship with some of the liberals and intellectuals during the ureau's fight against Communism.

By all logic, every liberal intellectual should have stood shoulder to shoulder with the FBI in its fight to expose Communism as the most reactionary and imperialistic movement the world has ever known.

"Many of the liberal intellectuals did stand by the FBI. They spoke out to suggest that there was nothing contrary to liberalism in supporting the FBI as the professional agency equipped to deal with espionage, sabotage, and subversion."

"BUT AMONG OTHERS there was antagonism against the FBI, as though the FBI were invading a realm of political sophistication which was outside the understanding of law enforcement officers."

One myth which was planted by the Communists was that an attack on communism was an attack on freedom of thought. The suspicion gained headway in some quarters that the FBI was an agency of reaction and a symbol of intolerance.

And then comes the sophistication which would find no second even in an intimate gathering of Sidney Hook and his lovable though sometimes esoteric friends: "The top command of the FBI have no illusions that Communism can be destroyed in the U.S. by the investigation, prosecution and conviction of Communist party leaders who conspire to overthrow the government by force and violence. That is merely one phase of the job to be done in a worldwide struggle."

"THE FBI KNOWS that the bigger job lies with the free world's intellectuals — the philosophers, the thinkers, wherever they may be, the professors and scientists and scholars and students."

These people who think, the intellectuals if you please, are the ones who can and must convince men that Communism is evil.

"Those intellectuals who assume a neutral role in this struggle and stand by merely as uncommitted observers are jeopardizing the cause of freedom."

That says it.

Ruritan Club Plans Lighting Contest

GREENFORD — Thirty-one members and four guests of the Greenford Ruritan Club met Thursday evening at the Calla EUB Church.

A trophy was presented to the winning team of the Hot Stove League which was sponsored by Mike Owens Service.

Donald Bennett reported plans for the Green Township Christmas lighting contest to be sponsored again this year by the Ruritan Club. Three prizes will be awarded for the best lighted doorways. Entry blanks may be obtained from Donald Bennett or Ray Hendricks and should be submitted by Dec. 22.

The club will again distribute baskets to the needy this Christmas.

After the business meeting a movie entitled "Speechless by Mistake" was enjoyed.

The Dec. 13 meeting will be ladies night and officers for 1957 will be installed by Dale Miller, district governor.

A color film, "Holy Night" will be shown at the Locust Grove Baptist Church Sunday evening at the second vesper service beginning at 6:30.

The men's chorus will sing several Christmas selections. Robert Noble, accompanied by his daughter, Sandra, will sing, "In Old Judea."

Other members of the chorus are Charles Cook, Samuel Ferguson, Earl Kessler, David Kurtz, Jack Marshall, W. Rufus McDorman, Rev. Frederick McKnight, Donald Roller, Harry Roller, Kenneth Roller, and Glen Scattergood.
